McNamara: No Choice But Firm Stand

Redviets Say 4 Warships Driven Off

SAIGON (UPI) — North Viet Nam charged today that four U.S. and South Vietnamese warships shelled a coastal installation today and were driven off in a battle with Communist patrol boats. It called the alleged intrusion a serious provocation.

The Communist broadcast came as a strong show of force by Vietnamese troops smashed a guerrilla offensive in the Mekong delta 35 miles southwest of Saigon. U.S. Army helicopters flew in troops and a battalion of Viet Cong broke and fled.

There was no official confirmation of Hanoi Radio's report of a naval engagement but it came shortly after President Liu Shao-chi of Communist China reaffirmed Peking's support for North Viet Nam against U.S.-South Vietnamese "aggression."

The United States virtually completed its evacuation of 1,819 American dependents today with the departure of Mrs. Maxwell D. Taylor, wife of the ambassador, and 15 others. The last 15 are to fly home Friday.

Good Evening!

President Johnson says it forcefully and well.

The United States has no intention of changing its present policy in Vietnam; it will continue defending freedom and its actions will be fitting and adequate in response to those of the aggressors.

This is timely notice to some of our meddling Allies and to the Commies of the world. They should get the message — loud and clear.

February still on the mild side with mercury in the 40's today and probably the same tomorrow. Early spring? If we could just escape one of these usual early March blizzards, maybe we'd be in.

We dunno. With our circulation man Don Hayman jetting down to Puerto Rico's San Juan today for a couple of weeks of tropical sun bathing, the odds against some early robust weather not so good. He's equipped with a bit of built-in clairvoyance.

Then there's Leon Plavin getting ready for a month in New Orleans and Florida. He also knows something we don't know?

In any event, it's income tax time, as if you didn't know.

April 15 will be here sooner than we think. And, oddly enough, despite all the weeks ahead there'll be a lot of us waiting until the last minute and then dashing madly to get under the deadline. Sort of like the Christmas shopping procrastination.

And quite pleasant hostesses and hosts they are with their pre-dinner music and recitations.

If Communism is as wonderful as the Communists claim, you'd think they'd take down the iron curtains and put in some picture windows.

Yet, all you have to do is to take a look behind one of the curtains, and you know shockingly well why they don't.

Defense Secretary Robert McNamara unpacks his briefcase as he prepares to testify, today before the House Armed Services committee. (UPI Telephoto)

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said today the United States must continue its struggle to halt Red expansion in Asia and has little choice but to make its stand in South Viet Nam.

In a statement prepared for delivery before the House Armed Services Committee, he described the situation in Viet Nam as "grave but by no means hopeless."

McNamara's strong stand on Viet Nam highlighted a wide-ranging review of world affairs which also spelled out American conditions for a NATO nuclear force and conceded that Red China "in time" could produce ballistic missiles with hydrogen warheads.

But for the near future, McNamara said, he doubted that the Red Chinese would start overt aggression against their neighbors because they had shown "great caution when confronted with a determined display of military power."

Cities Casualty Figures

McNamara also said that nearly 80 million Americans would be killed in an all-out nuclear attack on U.S. cities even if $25 billion were spent during the next five years on shelters and anti-missile weapons.

In the absence of such a shelter and anti-missile program—so far not even proposed—he said the death toll would be close to 150 million persons.

The global appraisal took up 30 pages of the secretary's annual 200-page "defense posture" statement.

McNamara went beyond recent administration statements that Americans are in Viet Nam at Saigon's request to help preserve that nation's freedom.

"The choice is not simply whether to continue our struggle to halt Communist expansion in Asia," he said.

"If the choice is the latter, as I believe it should be, we will be far better off facing the issue in South Viet Nam."

Proposes No Expansion

Asserting that swift attainment of stable government was crucially important, McNamara did not propose expanding America's role in the war or enlarging its 23,500-man military commitment. But he said present programs must be continued and other nations should increase their help.

"Considering the great stakes involved in this struggle," he said, "I see no other alternative for the United States."

McNamara said the stakes were far more than the loss of a small country. If South Viet Nam succumbed, he said, the Reds then would increase pressure on Laos and threaten Thailand. America would face the same problem all over again or have to let all Southeast Asia go by default, he added.

Discussing China's nuclear effort, McNamara said it was a "most disturbing long-term prospect" that the hostile Peking regime could produce medium-range and even long-range ballistic missiles with thermonuclear warheads.

But he said that the Soviet Union fully understood the perils of nuclear war and he believed that Red China's leaders also were "reluctant to challenge the full weight of our military power."

He expressed hope that India would not yield to pressures to produce nuclear weapons. (Continued on Page 26, Col. 1)

TV Personality Doesn't Recall Salesman's Job

Man's '2 Lives' Not A Hoax, Doctor Says

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) — A medical report on "dead ringer" John (Fritz) Johnson said today there is no indication that "he has any recollection" of his life as an Ohio salesman who disappeared almost eight years ago.

The doctors said they were also unable to find a medical or psychiatric reason for Johnson's loss of memory.

Johnson's family doctor revealed the results of exhaustive mental and physical tests conducted on the flamboyant Omaha television personality.

Johnson's fingerprints have identified him as Lawrence J. Bader, an Akron, Ohio, kitchen appliance salesman who disappeared during a fishing trip on Lake Erie in May, 1957. Johnson, now 38, turned up in Omaha three days later and became one of the city's best known figures before a friend of Bader's recognized him in Chicago early this month.

Bader has been declared legally dead and his wife, Marylou, and four children still live in Akron. Johnson has two children by a second marriage in Omaha.

Johnson's doctor indicated it would be months — if ever — before the mystery of why Bader disappeared and why Johnson cannot remember him is solved.

The report said that after eight days of intensive neurological, psychiatric, and physical tests, no neurotic or psychotic tendencies could be found to explain his inability to recall any former life as Bader.

Dr. Lee C. Bevilacqua, Johnson's personal physician for the past three years, issued the medical report in a brief news conference in the office of Johnson's attorney, Harry Farnham.

Johnson, who left the hospital Wednesday, did not attend.

Farnham and Bevilacqua indicated that further long and intensive medical studies will be needed to fully explain Bader's memory loss.

Bevilacqua said it was obvious that Johnson's memory loss, involving such a long and "vital" period of his life, "represents a deep-seated psychiatric problem."

"Fritz is very desirous of commencing psychotherapy and both psychiatrists advise me it would take an indefinite period of such treatment to ascertain the exact nature of such a problem," the doctor said.

He said no further tests were being planned now because of Johnson's "emotional state."

The doctor did not answer a question whether any truth drug was used in questioning Johnson in the hospital.

No Indication

Bevilacqua said the tests had been conducted by Donald Fauth, staff psychologist at the hospital, a neurologist, and two Omaha psychologists who made separate and independent examinations. He said he also con-

Negro Teens Riot In N.Y.

NEW YORK (UPI) — About 300 Negro teenagers protesting school segregation turned into a howling mob that swarmed through a crowded shopping center today, smashing store windows and terrorizing shoppers.

The screaming youngsters knocked police officers to the ground, hurled bricks and bottles through windows and jostled shoppers.

Then they headed for nearby St. John's University campus where Negro demonstrators clashed with about 100 white students yesterday.

Police on horseback rushed ahead and turned back the mob. The demonstrators then broke into packs of a dozen or less and headed toward the downtown section of Brooklyn.

About 50 patrolmen and six mounted police were on hand at the Brooklyn offices to maintain order and keep the crowd on the sidewalks.

The teenagers, shouting such slogans as "Jim Crow must go" surged through the lines and scattered in the park.

A similar demonstration yesterday erupted into a free-for-all between the demonstrators and about 100 white college students from St. John's University.

The crowd then broke into small groups which ran through the streets smashing windows in nearby business establishments. Sixty young Negroes also attacked six white Catholic seminary students on a subway train during the disturbance.

Wants More Study

Bristol Twp. Delays Apt. License Fees

By SCOOP LEWIS
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Bristol Township's board of commissioners last night delayed amending a housing ordinance which would provide an annual license fee and inspection of all rental units in the township.

The board postponed action in order to "more carefully study" the ordinance before acting upon it at its March meeting.

The proposed ordinance will require landlords who rent apartments, houses, multi-family dwellings or rooms to pay license fees and be subjected to an annual inspection and additional inspections when such re-tal units become vacant.

Inspection Criticized

The proposed license fee would be $3 for each rental unit, where from one to three units are maintained on the same lot, and $2 per rental unit where four or more units are maintained on the same piece of ground.

The board's legislative committee, in addition to studying the rental ordinance, plans to re-align its building fees by next month.

Last night, Commissioner Harry W. Fawkes criticized the proposed license fees for rented apartments and homes. "Why

19 Arrests And He's On Parole Again

Police Learn Of Release After Stopping Car

Edward J. Kelly, 27, of Feasterville, is out on the streets once more.

The Courier-Times learned today that Kelly has been on parole for the past two months following his latest prison sentence, for armed robbery — despite the fact that he has been paroled again and again during his long career of crime and has violated those paroles with impunity and frequency.

Studded With Violence

He has been given this freedom although his record is studded with violence.

Kelly was accused of assault and battery upon police officers in Warminster Township, in Bristol Township and in Bristol Borough. At least one of the police officers he assaulted went to the hospital.

Kelly has been arrested in Lower Southampton, Warminster, Middletown, Bristol and Bensalem Townships; in Bristol Borough, Bethlehem, Philadelphia and Norristown, Pa.; in Trenton and in New York where he was charged with breaking into a post office.

Escape Artist

He's an escape artist, too. He broke away from the custody of a guard in Doylestown once; he escaped from Norristown State Hospital once; state police in Philadelphia once charged him with aiding another inmate to escape.

Kelly's latest sentence was put into effect July 8, 1963, when he was received at Eastern

State Penitentiary on the armed robbery charge, for holding up a tavern in Philadelphia at knife-point.

Bucks Custody

Despite the gravity of this charge, he was released from Eastern State, according to an authority of that institution, on an order from the Bucks County Court and turned over to the custody of Bucks County officers.

His latest parole followed. Details of the parole could not be obtained today. A secretary in the court chambers would say only that he had been paroled.

Twp. Tells Boro: 'Get Water To Croydon Or Get Out'

By SCOOP LEWIS
Courier-Times Staff Writer

For the past 18 months Bristol Township has endeavored to get Bristol Borough to extend borough water facilities to some 235 homes in the Croydon area. Meeting with little or no success, the township is taking its case to the Public Utilities Commission, demanding that the borough either provide the water or give up its franchise.

The "give us water or give up the ship" edict was handed down last night when the commissioners, by a 9-0 vote, approved the filing of a complaint against the borough with the PUC in Harrisburg.

Wells Gone Dry

Since August, 1963, the township and the borough have been in negotiations over extending water service and facilities to homes in Croydon and Bristol Heights where wells have gone dry since the township sewer project began in the spring of '63.

The township commissioners, under constant fire from Croydon area residents, put the blame of the matter on Bristol Borough. Last Nov. 19, Commissioner Harry W. Fawkes of Croydon's first ward told 100 irate residents at a public meeting: "If the borough gives us more trouble, we'll go to the PUC."

Last night the township made its move.

Today, Bristol Borough Manager Frank Patrizio contended "we're meeting all our obligations under the PUC code." He said the borough's water committee is studying the problem.

The township differs, contending that the borough has refused to extend its lines in violation of the PUC code, "necessary for the accommodation, convenience and safety and health of the residents."

In filing its complaint to the PUC, the township contends the borough has made "unreasonable demands upon the township to make financial contributions for construction of additional facilities that would be owned solely by the borough."

On Dec. 14, 1963, the township and the borough entered an agreement whereby the borough has supplied water to certain residents of the township by use of facilities and pipe lines in the township, the construction of which was financed through a bond issue of the township.

Under the terms of the agreement, the township was to be, and subsequently was in fact, paid a sum by the borough in an amount adequate to liquidate the bond issue.

In its complaint, the township demands that the PUC order and direct Bristol Borough to: —Provide full and complete water service and facilities by extending its lines to the 235 affected homes, or ing portions of Bristol, Falls and Middletown Townships and Tullytown Borough.

Commissioner Anthony Melio, chairman of the township's sewer and water committee, made the motion to compel the borough to provide adequate water services to the Croydon area homes. It was approved unanimously with one commissioner, Board President James N. Kline, being absent.

In addition to Fawkes, Commissioners Larry Cerasoli and Joseph Bellerby, from Croydon's fourth and second wards, respectively, have been leading the fight for the past 18 months.

In October, 1963, following a month-long drought, many shallow wells in the area went dry. Many families were forced to go to springs and streams for their only source of drinking water. Others were supplied water by the Croydon Fire Co.

Not only were the families without water, but many were without heat since their heating systems are run by hot water.

Last March, Melio and James N. Darrah, representative for William Spencer Erwin, township engineering firm, presented a preliminary survey which showed it would cost $113,552.50 to provide tie-ins to the borough water lines.

Last November, Bristol Township Manager Ronald Zweig said a proposal offered by the borough would cost about $2,000,000. "The proposal was so unrealistic," he stated, "that we would have to go to the Lower Bucks County Joint Municipal Authority."

Actor Held In Bombing Of Vatican

ROME (UPI)—A left-wing actor with a role in the anti-Pope Pius XII play "The Deputy" was charged today with bombing the Vatican Wednesday. Police said he and another young man were to blame.

Actor Claudio Volonte, 26, was charged with placing the bomb which heavily damaged a door leading from Vatican City into Rome. Under Italian law he was not jailed but will remain free until his trial. Only persons caught in the act are jailed.

Volonte had grown a beard for a part in "The Deputy" and one of the two men who carried out the bombing at 1:50 a.m. was known to have been wearing a beard. This and his past record led to his questioning.

Volonte, a brother of actor Gian Maria Volonte who tried to produce the controversial play in Rome, is a member of the far-left neo-Fascist Socialist Party of Proletarian Unity. He had been in trouble with police before for bombing incidents — when he was an extreme rightist neo-fascist.

"The Deputy" criticized Pope Pius XII for not speaking out against the Nazi massacre of Jews in World War II. Police had banned it as an affront to the Vatican, and there was speculation the bomb explosion was staged as a protest.

Volonte had remained at the central police station overnight at the "disposition" of interrogators but at the time was not placed under formal arrest.

Police called in a beautiful movie actress, Dominique Boschero, earlier to check Volonte's alibi. He had told police he was with her when the bomb exploded.

A bomb went off early Wednesday morning at a huge wooden door blocking an unused entrance to the Vatican. It scarred the door, smashed windows, and caused a blast that woke up a good portion of Rome, but caused no injuries.

Arraign Man With Bombs

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) —

Jack Wheeler, 33, a former Army demolitions expert, was arraigned today after being arrested for having enough explosives to "blow up a couple of city blocks."

Wheeler, arrested when police raided his home last night, was questioned by local authorities and the FBI about the recent alleged bombing plot in New York but police doubted that he was involved in that threat.

Wheeler was held in $1,500 bail for the grand jury by magistrate Tomlin Campbell after the judiciary official rejected the suspect's contention that the alleged offense was a matter under federal jurisdiction and subject only to a $10 fine. Campbell told Wheeler that he could be subject to a fine of $300 and receive 90 days in prison.

Police Capt. Clarence Ferguson said he was "pretty certain" that Wheeler had nothing to do with the bomb threat in New York Tuesday but that authorities were still questioning him about it.

Ferguson said the explosives found in the house included a number of sticks of dynamite, some electric detonator caps, a few hundred feet of fusing wire and rubber gloves. The police captain said some of the explosives had Army markings on it.

Berkes assured the group everyone would save under the proposed system. The average cost now for private collection, Berkes said, runs from $19 a year to $24. A two-mill tax would cost the owner of a $10,000 home $6 a year, the owners of a $20,000 home $12.

New Jersey Man Cited In Crash

A Short Hills, N.J., motorist, apparently unable to obey a "Keep Right" traffic sign, smashed into it early this morning on Route 1 at the railroad bridge, Falls Township.

Police said the man, Arthur Kimball, was uninjured in the 2:15 mishap.

However, he was ticketed for driving on the wrong side of the road, police reported.

Falls Supervisors Meeting

Residents Rap Proposed Trash Plan

By AL CHESTER
Courier-Times Staff Writer

A highly vocal crowd of some 60 Falls Township residents howled their displeasure last night at a proposal to bring municipal trash collection into the township.

Despite warnings by Milton Berkes, chairman of the Falls supervisors that "this is a citizens' meeting, not a union meeting," many of the residents called out, shouted, booed, and created a generally unruly two hours.

No action on the proposal was taken. The meeting was called to hear residents' questions and to attempt to answer them.

Present Timetable

Another meeting will be held in about a month, Berkes announced; then if the supervisors decide to go ahead, an ordinance will be drawn up and then presented at a public hearing. The present timetable calls for municipal trash collections to begin July 1, 1965.

Not all those attending last night's meeting opposed the measure. A show of hands after the meeting revealed 30 against and 13 for. The opposition also contrasted to the response the township received to its questionnaires on the subject.

Of the 3,500 questionnaires returned (7,500 were mailed out), "one-third indicated dissatisfaction with their present service," Berkes said.

Similarly, 2,766 residents said they would be willing to assume a tax burden of at least two mills a year to pay for the service, while 594 said they would not.

Most of the opposition last night centered about the proposed method for financing the service — real estate taxes. Many residents said this method was unfair since owners of more expensive homes would be paying more for the same service than owners of less expensive homes.

Berkes assured the group everyone would save under the proposed system. The average cost now for private collection, Berkes said, runs from $19 a year to $24. A two-mill tax would cost the owner of a $10,000 home $6 a year, the owners of a $20,000 home $12.

Retrial Slated In 1941 Theft Case

A 24-year-old robbery case is listed for trial Tuesday in Bucks County Criminal Court in Doylestown.

The defendant, Oscar R. Orth, 53, pleaded guilty in 1941 to robbing a Lower Bucks pharmacy. He was sentenced to an eight to 20 year term by the late Judge Calvin S. Boyer.

The state Supreme Court recently ordered that Orth be retried after the convict filed a habeas corpus petition alleging that he didn't have a lawyer when convicted.

Witnesses Gone

District Attorney William J. Carlin said it would be impossible to recall some of the witnesses who appeared in court 24 years ago. Some witnesses have died. Others have moved from the area.

According to court records, there is no indication whether Orth refused an attorney back in 1941 or didn't have the money to hire one.

Recent high court decisions have resulted in states providing counsel to indigent defendants.

On Tuesday, Orth, a former Philadelphia, will be represented by the Bucks County Public Defender's office.

Orth has been in prison most of the time since 1941. The robbery conviction coupled with parole violations and a larceny conviction gave Orth a term extending to 1973.

Clark Makes GOP Demand

Attorney Ward F. Clark, Republican candidate for district attorney, today demanded that Republican money not be used in the primary campaign.

Clark, 37, who is first assistant DA threatened legal action if funds of the GOP's Century Club or finance committee be used against him in the May 18 contest.

Clark, on Saturday, was passed over by the Republican executive committee which endorsed William H. Eastburn III for district attorney.

Eastburn, 32, is a regional GOP county chairman and assistant DA.

Republican Chairman Myron W. Harris said today that money in the party's general fund is not used in the primary campaign. Instead, he said, a separate primary campaign committee is formed to raise money to back endorsed candidates.

Clark, who has the support of District Attorney William J. Carlin, also demanded the right to examine the financial records of the party. He asked Harris to remain neutral and appoint a primary campaign chairman.

Clark also demanded that the primary campaign committee be made to pay rent if it chooses to use the facilities of Republican headquarters in Doylestown.

"Seasonable" is a favorite word with weather forecasters and it applies quite well in Lower Bucks today.

The skies are partly cloudy and temperatures in the 50s tended to cause many hardy souls to doff topcoats for a lunchtime stroll.

A weak cold front was expected to move through the area tonight, dropping the mercury to between 25-30 degrees overnight.

Temperatures will be colder tomorrow (between 35-40) with some showers or snow flurries expected in the morning before clearing up in the afternoon.

Tax Collector Gets $250 Pay Increase

By BEN McELVEEN
 Courier-Times Staff Writer

The Morrisville School Board last night raised the school tax collector's salary from $4,250 to $4,500 a year, dicing it on a flat rate basis.

The board took the action while meeting in the Summer-seat building, after hearing a letter read by Superintendent Dr. Paul Phillips saying such action should be taken.

The letter was from the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction and stated that according to the school code, the tax collector's salary must be set by March.

Christ Is Tax Collector
 The tax collector is Harry Christ. The effective date of the new salary scale will be July 1, at the start of the new school year.

Dr. Phillips explained that Morrisville pays its tax collector on a flat rate basis, rather than on a percentage basis as in some Lower Bucks townships.

Other Action
 In other matters, the school board (—)

—Adopted a motion to invest $75,000 in U.S. Treasury bills at the Morrisville Bank in order to obtain the accrued interest until the funds are needed.

—Postponed action until further study on a request by the Morrisville Methodist Church to be relieved of paying $384.30 in taxes on ground at the new church site, Maple and Taft Aves. Solicitor Ed Dobin said he wanted to check further into the matter.

—Discussed but took no action on a letter from the state attorney general which stated that Morrisville could take action against firms allegedly involved in an anti-trust action, since it was discovered a total of $2,200 in goods had been purchased over the past years from these firms. The school district stands to regain a triple amount in damages, if court action were successful. The sum would be less lawyer's fees.

Trip Expenses Ok'd
 —Authorized $200 apiece in expenses for two school board members, Homer Platon and Thomas Daily, to attend the National School Boards Association conference in Boston April 3-6.

—Approved a motion to admit three new members — Bristol Borough, Bensalem Township and Bucks County Public Schools, into the cooperative purchasing agreement in Lower Bucks to buy such items as fuel oil, gasoline, light bulbs, school buses, tires and window glass.

—Approved salaries for extra-curricular duties for the following teachers: Robert B. Shoudt, varsity track, assistant coach, $200; Horace M. Hutchison, operetta, $100; Hutchison, band and orchestra, $200; Walter A. Steene, yearbook, $300, and James Kelbaugh, student council, $300.

Morrisville Man Killed
 An elderly Morrisville man died last night from injuries received when he was struck by a car while walking on the East-West Highway in Trenton.

Police identified him as John T. Williamson, in his late 70's, of 405 W. Bridge St.

Williamson was struck by a car at about 3:27 p.m. yesterday and died three hours later at 7:15 p.m. at Mercer Hospital, Trenton, from multiple fractures and internal injury.

Driver of the car was listed as Mrs. Patricia Blackwell, 24, of 47 S. Lenape Ave., Trenton. She was taken to Mercer in a city police ambulance also, and treated for shock.

Walked A Lot
 Police said the accident happened near the Trenton entrance to the Calhoun St. Bridge, where Williamson was walking home from Trenton.

A neighbor said Williamson, who had no known relatives here, often walked to and from Trenton from his Morrisville home. He formerly owned a hotel, the Hanover House in Trenton, until he retired about 10 years ago.

His wife died about five years ago and they had no children. Williamson lived in Morrisville, where he rented his second floor rooms to two school teachers. He cooked for himself, a neighbor said.

Originally from Philadelphia, Williamson had lived in Morrisville for the last five years. He kept up with the stock market and invested in stocks and bonds, a neighbor said.

Funeral arrangements are being handled by the J. Allen Hooper Funeral Chapel, 45 N. Pennsylvania Ave., Morrisville, but were incomplete this morning.

For Sewer Construction

Lower Makefield Awards $5.6 Million Bond Issue

The Lower Makefield Sewer Authority last night awarded a $5.6 million contract for a bond issue to a Philadelphia syndicate for sewer construction in the township.

During a special meeting in the municipal building, the authority awarded the bond contract to a syndicate headed by the firm, Dolphin and Bradbury, and Butcher and Sherrerd, both of Philadelphia.

A township spokesman said Henry Place of Butcher and Sherrerd served as financial consultant to the authority since its inception.

For 2 Sections
 The actual bond issue comes to $5,660,000, and will be used for construction costs for sewer installation in the north and south sections of the township.

The sewer authority said the average net interest cost quoted by the syndicate was 3.561 per cent interest.

A spokesman explained the authority had the option of accepting the private syndicate's proposal, or advertising on the public market to float the bonds.

Proposal Acceptable
 The authority decided that the proposal by the syndicate was acceptable, and, after receiving the informal endorsement of the township supervisors, voted unanimously to accept the bond issue by the syndicate. The authority also acted on the advice of its financial consultant.

The sewer authority is headed by Dan Wetlin, chairman and has four members, Charles W. Weiner, Claude L. Johnson, Daniel Haggerty and John M. Zelek.

The bond issue contract is still contingent upon approval of the U.S. Public Health Service.

The authority last night also awarded construction contracts, all contingent upon approval of the U.S. Public Health Service.

Construction Contracts
 They are:
 For biggest sewer system construction work, Charles F. Smith and Sons Inc., Kenneth Square, $3,073,203.05.

For a small portion of the sewer work, George Tripp Inc., Pontiac, Mich., $712,618.

For pumping station work, Lansdowne Construction Inc., Lansdowne, $269,400.

For plumbing contract, Richard A. Duckworth Co., Chester, $4,597.

For ventilating contract, same firm, Duckworth, $9,997.

And for electrical contract, Spartan Electric Construction Inc., Morrisville, $19,014.

A spokesman said the township supervisors will officially ratify the endorsement of the contracts with resolutions at its next meeting March 1.

The authority hopes to have construction work begin in April of this year, with the target date for completion — May 1966.

QUESTION . . .

HAVE YOU EVER BEEN SWITCHED IN YOUR CHOICE

DID YOU KNOW THAT...

IS THE BRAND MOST CONSUMERS START OUT TO PURCHASE ...BUT TOO OFTEN THEY ARE "SWITCHED TO AN INFERIOR PRODUCT!"

WHY? Because they "fall" for one of the oldest and most widely used sales gimmicks —to downgrade the product you've set-out to buy and to make it appear to be "overpriced!"

Your decision to buy a particular TV set is usually influenced by recommendations of your TV serviceman, a neighbor, consumer-evaluating-agencies and your own good taste. Most likely you have decided on a ZENITH!

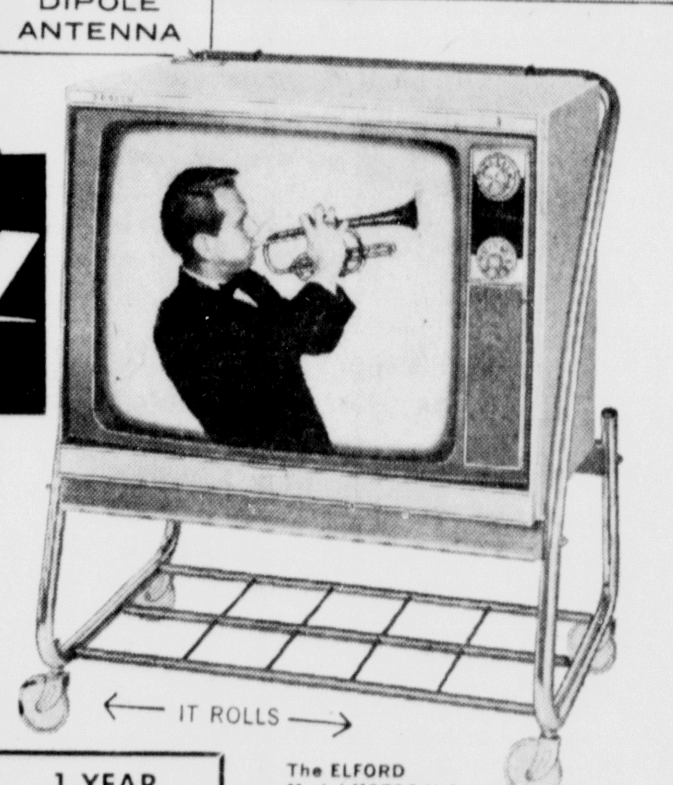

Between the time you decide and the time you buy, there is a good chance that you may be switched to another brand.

If the decision is your own, that's fine; if you are persuaded by an over-zealous sales person, you may, in fact, regret it! There are many reasons for this "persuasion": Possibly a manufacturer offers a premium to the salesman to push his brand; perhaps the profit-margin is higher; perhaps it is a "house" brand. The reasons are manifold! At GUARANTEED TV, we cannot "switch" you to another brand! We sell only ZENITH Television! And we expertly service ZENITH, too!

If you've decided (as so many do) that ZENITH TV is for you, come to GUARANTEED TV . . . you won't be switched!
